RECRUITMENT MARKETING OPTIMIZATION SERVICES

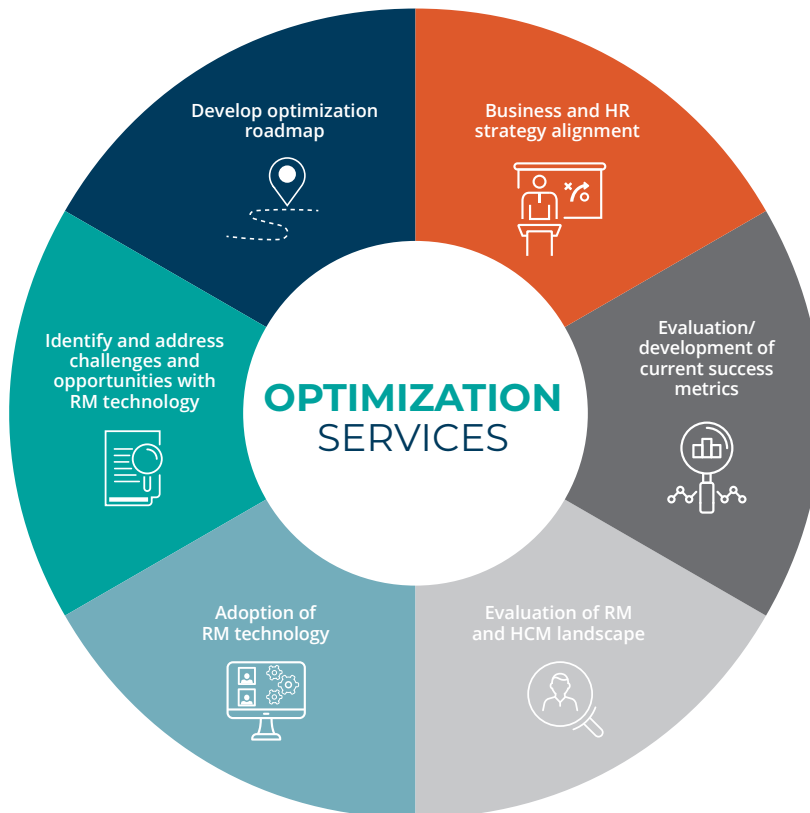

Has your talent acquisition organization fully leveraged its investment in recruitment marketing technology?

From creating a robust talent pipeline to improving employer brand, Recruitment Marketing (RM) software is quickly becoming a standard tool for many talent acquisition organizations. However, many are not realizing the full benefits of their system. If your team doesn't trust the metrics provided by the system, hasn't activated your brand within the candidate experience, or chooses to use spreadsheets to track candidates instead of leveraging the system, it's time to optimize your RM technology.

Partner with Sikich to optimize your human capital management (HCM) and RM solution to ensure you are delivering best-in-class processes to advance your business, fully leveraging tools in your arsenal and maximizing your return on investment.

Our Strategy and Optimization services will meet you where you are, at any point in your journey, to help maximize the time and effort you have already invested in your RM technology.

Sikich brings a market-differentiated delivery model:

OUR RESULTS

Because trust is at the foundation of any relationship, our team will be fully transparent with the results of the optimization. Your organization will receive a detailed roadmap for success that will link your strategy with your actions, ensuring that your talent acquisition team can provide a cohesive candidate experience. The roadmap will also assist in planning for sustainability, enhancements, updates and new services. By leveraging your total suite of HCM tools, your team will have the ability to measure how they deliver quality candidates better and quicker.

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

- Is your team consistently using the RM software you invested in or are they still finding ways to do it the old way?
- Are you using updated or new metrics to show the value of the updated process?
